£5 MILLION FURNITURE WAREHOUSE SELL-OFF!

Premium local furniture retailer, Lee Longlands has exclusively revealed details on their sensational £5 MILLION furniture warehouse sell-off which kicks off at 10am this Friday!

The event which runs for three days, this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at their Lee Longlands and Vineys of Abingdon stores, will see the business clear £5 MILLION of stock. In fact we can exclusively reveal that these stores have been closed for two days so that everything from dining tables, sofas, beds and bedroom furniture to chairs, mirrors, lighting and rugs can be marked down ready for the huge event.

Robert Lee, Director at Lee Longlands, gave us the exclusive story "One of our major warehouse locations is coming to the end of its lease in September which means we have to reconfigure stocks in order to manage this change within our business. As a result we will be transferring vast amounts of stock to our stores and marking down every single item to clear through this event."

"This means we will have some of the most amazing choices of product lines at knock-down prices. What is more, no reasonable offer will be refused as these lines have to be cleared during this event."

AMAZING SUPPLIER DEALS

The media is constantly filled with reports of how tough the economy continues to be, especially for retailers so we asked Robert if the current difficult trading times had impacted on the Lee Longlands business – his response was surprisingly positive;

"These economic conditions have enabled us to find some cracking deals from our suppliers. What has amazed me is the exceptionally low prices we have been able to negotiate for superior quality products, and allowing us to pass savings onto our customers. As well as investing in upgrading our stores we have been investing in our online website."

ONLINE SUCCESS

"The online marketplace is increasingly important, and this warehouse reconfiguration is well timed as it enables us to look closely at the product ranges we stock and offer online to ensure we have the best possible selections."

"However, for this event we do have to stress customers have to come into our stores. Stock availability will be changing all the time so it would be nearly impossible for us to keep our website up to date with the latest availability and prices – we really do urge customers to get here early if they want the best of the bargains."

MISS IT. MISS OUT.

For the last few days Lee Longlands have closed their stores so that stock can be transferred in and marked down ready for this event. As the potential savings are so incredible it is expected that there will be long queues waiting in anticipation of the doors at their Abingdon and Vineys of Abingdon stores opening at 10am this Friday morning. We managed to get a few exclusive examples to show our readers exactly what will be on offer:

Duval Extending Oak Dining Table
WAS £899 NOW £54

Stressless Magic Medium Leather Recliner Chair
WAS £2,099 NOW £164

4'6" Vi Spring Traditional Bed Stead Mattress
WAS £1,220 NOW £192

"There are over 20,000 product lines from famous brand names all ready to be sold so turnover of stock will be rapid – it really has to be a first come, first served situation."

"We anticipate so much stock rotation that we've had to take extra delivery staff on for the footfall."

Robert also said "Many famous brand names will be on offer this weekend including NATUZZI, TEMPUR and STRESSLESS, with products ranging from sofas, chairs, dining and bedroom furniture, bed frames, mattresses, flooring, carpets and rugs – right through to mirrors, pictures and home accessories – there really will be something to whet every customer's appetite."

EXCITING TIMES AHEAD

Robert finished by saying "The future is really positive for us, we are in our 11th year of trading and our aim is to continue to be at the forefront of furniture retailing in the Midlands. Our business has remained successful as we are constantly ensuring we offer the best home furniture products from the most stylishly designed brands but always at guaranteed lowest prices. We even have a full time team reviewing all our competitors prices to ensure we remain the best value."

"By constantly improving our stores and our online offering we strive to continue to bring our customers everything they have always come to expect from us today and more exciting products in the future."

DEMOLITION IS IMMINENT

A PART of Didcot A Power Station is set to be ripped down later this year ahead of its full demolition in 2014.

The deconstruction of a number of small buildings on the site will begin in a few months while the demolition of the 365ft cooling towers will take place in the new year, creating up to 200 jobs.

22 after 42 years in operation and workers have since been decommissioning the site.

On Monday, RWE npower, who retain ownership of the site, announced Birmingham-based Coleman & Company Ltd would be demolition contractors.

Phil Noake, Didcot A station manager, said: "We are pleased to announce that Coleman & Company have been appointed on an early works agreement to begin preparatory demolition works."

"Coleman will subsequently be taking over the management of the site and will be working with RWE and the community over the coming months."

Mark Coleman, managing director of Coleman & Company Ltd added: "We are absolutely delighted to be involved in this intricate demolition project."

"We will be employing up to 200 people on site at peak, providing not only continued employment for our existing workforce over the next three years, but also opportunities for local people and businesses."

"The demolition of Didcot A Power Station will require high levels of safety management along with careful planning and coordination.

"We will be engaging with the surrounding businesses and the local community, which I am sure will play a major part in the successful conclusion of this part of Didcot A's story."

In order to keep people informed on the deconstruction of the site, two drop-in sessions are being held at Didcot Civic Hall at the end of the month. Team members from RWE npower and Coleman & Company Ltd will be on hand to answer any questions on the demolition activities and future land use, as well as on the ongoing role of Didcot B gas-fired power station on the site.

The drop-in sessions will take place on September 24 between 9.30am - 4.30pm and September 25 from 4pm - 8pm.

Councillors set to decide on City Deal

A KEY decision that could lead to up to 30,000 extra jobs being created in Oxfordshire over the next 10 years is expected to be made by the county council next Tuesday.

The council's cabinet are considering an economic growth plan, known as 'City Deal' status, with the finalised bid due to be submitted to the government in October.

It is a unified effort by all of Oxfordshire's councils, the two universities, Local Enterprise Partnership and the major science centres at Harwell and Culham to compete for devolved powers in exchange for delivering local growth.

The City Deal will hand over more control of government spending to these organisations, if they can show that the money would be used to speed up economic growth and increase private sector investment.

County council leader Ian Hudspeth said: "Oxfordshire has the greatest potential of any location in the UK to deliver world-leading technology and business innovation building upon our academic and research heritage.

"The process of developing the City Deal has already strengthened relationships locally and all the partners are speaking with one clear and simple message – that Oxfordshire has a thriving and successful future.

"The City Deal partners have been working closely to make Oxfordshire's ambition of being a world leader in the 'knowledge economy' become reality."

Oxfordshire's City Deal bid focuses on 'economic growth through innovation', with the aim of ensuring that the workforce is able to take up jobs in the future.

This will involve local control over skills training in the county to make sure young people are prepared for future employment.

Nigel Tipple, chief executive of the Local Enterprise Partnership, said: "Harnessing and developing Oxfordshire's phenomenal knowledge and expertise is the key to our economic growth.

"By working actively with government and the county's skills and training providers, we can ensure that Oxfordshire's businesses can draw on a local workforce to drive forward the local economy."

The government is currently negotiating with 20 cities across England to agree a City Deal, in each case asking an area to set out its ambitions and what it will offer in additional support.

They must also set out what they expect from government, in regards to greater powers and access to funding.

Beth serves an ace for disabled tennis

A DEAF tennis player from Marcham, near Abingdon, took to the court last week to help promote disability sport alongside one of the discipline's biggest stars.

Beth Simmons met double Paralympic champion Peter Norfolk OBE at the home of British tennis in Roehampton to celebrate a year since the London 2012 Paralympic Games in a Disability Tennis Festival.

A selection of players demonstrated how accessible deaf tennis is while wheelchair and learning disability adaptations of the sport were also on show.

"Tennis is a wonderful sport to be involved in," Beth said, "I had a really good day and it was fantastic to see the enthusiasm from the players on court and it goes to show how interested people are since the Games.

"It is really important for disability tennis to continue to grow and grow because playing sport is a great thing to not only keep you fit but it is a lot of fun and gives you a real sense of achieve-

Boy in hospital

A TEN-YEAR-OLD boy is undergoing treatment for a serious head injury after a road traffic collision in Didcot on Tuesday evening.

At around 5.35pm police were called to a report that a pedestrian had collided with a black Nissan Micra car in Oxford Crescent.

Anyone with information should contact Sgt Bryan Smith on 101.

Woman, 44, evicted after complaints

A WOMAN has been evicted from her Banbury home after she was believed to be responsible for a number of anti-social behaviour and abuse incidents over a two and a half year period.

Sarah O'Hara, 44, was evicted from the property on Banesberie Close by the Lambeth Housing Association, following numerous complaints made against her.

An anti-social behaviour injunction has been taken out against O'Hara by Cherwell District Council, and the property has been boarded up.

"This is the culmination of a long and complex investigation," said Dave Hibbert, neighbourhood inspector for the Cherwell Police area.

"It underlines our determination that this sort of systematic anti-social behaviour will not be tolerated, and that we will do everything in our power to ensure persons acting in this manner are dealt with using the full range of powers available."

PC Kevin Yeoman said: "I have been in regular communication with those who live in the close and they tell me the behaviour of the occupant has had a detrimental effect on their personal health and quality of life."

Town crier gets encore from Didcot councillors

OLD traditions are still being kept alive in Didcot as a Town Crier will soon be a permanent fixture on its streets.

Didcot Town councillors voted in favour of having a Town Crier at a meeting on Monday and to advertise for the position on the council website.

The topic was on the full council agenda after Anthony Church, Town Crier for Oxford and the Town Councils of Banbury, Chipping Norton, Daventry, Thame and Wallingford, wrote to the members.

Mr Church, aged 61, from Oxford, sent in a letter seeking formal recognition as the Town Crier of Didcot following his appearance at a number of council events, such as the town fayre in July.

However, members of the town council were not keen on appoint-

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

ing Mr Church, who has been a Town Crier for 21 years, as the position had not been advertised to the general public.

Mr Church, an ex-regimental sergeant major, said: "I will still be going for it."

"I'm a bit disappointed, but I wouldn't want to upset anyone or for the councillors to have a backlash from the public and for someone to come along and say 'well I could have done that'."

"They are quite within their rights and I have no complaints about the way they have gone about it."

"I have written back to them to say I am still interested whichever way they do it, whether they go for a competition or go for interview it is fine by me."

Cllr Margaret Davies, leader of Didcot Town Council, said: "Members decided we are going to have a competition which is great. It encourages voices and we might even get a loud woman. If women can sing opera I am sure they can project their voice."

Cllr Neville Harris, a Ladygrove Ward member, said at the meeting: "I have no objections to this but I do have some reservations about making an appointment as a council without letting people know there is an opportunity."

"I am grateful to Mr Church for bringing this to our attention."

However, Cllr Tony Harbour, Ladygrove Ward member, said that he didn't understand the "double standards" after the Labour group decided to move away from the formalities and traditions of the annual mayor making ceremony under the Conservative group last year.

"There seems to be a bit of a U-turn by the leading group," said Cllr Harbour at Monday's meeting.

"When the Conservatives tried to make the council more formal and have a more historic feel to it in the first meeting under Labour it was overturned. I do not understand the double standards."

However, Cllr Davies said that no decision of that kind had been made previously and added: "it is a bit of a mystery".

Bike skills on show in Ladygrove

YOUNGSTERS across Didcot showed off their skills last Sunday in the annual Skate Park Jam.

Taking place at the skate park in the Ladygrove estate, up to 60 people turned up at the event where 12 to 25-year-olds took to the ramps on their skate boards, BMXs and scooters.

Will Brown, whose business Absolute Building Services sponsored the event, used to use the skate park a lot as a teenager and he said: "There were a few that really blew us away, especially with their ability."

"It was a good day. It was slightly stop start because of the weather but it cleared up and it was a nice afternoon."

"I have used the skate park since it opened and as I'm getting older I obviously don't use it quite as much because of time and other commitments."

"As a small business in Didcot we wanted to try and promote ourselves and associate ourselves with something we were fond with and the skate park was one of them."

The 28-year-old from Didcot added: "I think I would have got myself into a lot of bother over the years if I hadn't have had the skate park as a focus. I think it is brilliant and I still do. It is a good social outlet."

Notable winners on the day were Blake Taylor and Calvin Williams, while there was a range of small competitions including biggest hop and best trick.

Seven people escape from blazing home

SEVEN people escaped from a house in Cowley after a fire tore through the ground floor on Monday night.

Fire crews were called to the semi-detached house on Campbell Road on Monday evening.

Vigilant residents were already tackling the blaze with a hose before the fire service moved in and extinguished the flames.

No-one was injured, but several people were treated for smoke inhalation.

Incident Commander, Watch Manager Matt Dangerfield of Slade Park fire station White Watch, said: "The smoke alarms alerted the occupiers to the fire and the use of a garden hose through an open window had helped control the fire until we arrived."

"However, an incident like this shows just how dangerous breathing in smoke from fire can be and we advise occupants not to delay in evacuating and never to re-enter a property when there is a fire."

"Oxfordshire Fire & Rescue Service urge everyone to have working smoke alarms fitted in their property, test them weekly and have an escape plan prepared should situations such as this occur."

Leys Fair returns with a real bang

By James Booker

jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE Leys Fair returned with a bang last weekend as thousands of revellers gathered in Blackbird Leys Park to enjoy the last of the summer weather.

Oxfordshire Play Association organised the event, with support from the city council and other local groups.

The city council, Blackbird Leys Parish Council and the Green Square Group were among those who donated towards the event.

Jane Gallagher, of Oxford Play Association, said: "Thousands of people came for a wonderful, and mainly sunny, day of activities for all ages."

"There was something for everybody - Zorbing balls, pizza-making, tricky trails bicycle obstacle course, two climbing walls, Mini cars, circus skills, surf simulator, go karts, inflatable bungee run plus three other bouncy castles."

Val Smith, the city council's ward member for Blackbird Leys, said it was "great" to see the fair return, and called on the community to rally together to keep it going.

"It was really great to see the fair back - it has been a much missed event," said Cllr Smith.

"The sun was shining and the community turned out in force to support it - we all had a great time, especially the children."

"Now it's back we must make sure it stays so its onwards and upwards for next year's fair. There are so many people to thank for making it happen."

The fair was started by the official unveiling of the £130,000 Blackbird Leys Playground, after it re-opened in June with a host of new features, including a zip-wire, jungle swing, a sandpit, and climbing wall.

Cllr Mark Lygo, board member for Parks, Sports and Events, officially opened the new-look playground.

"The new play area is fantastic and provides a great new resource for children and families who live in Blackbird Leys and the surrounding areas," he said.

"The revamped play area adds to the park, which has recently been awarded Green Flag status, and will be enhanced further by the fitness trail that we are adding to the park."

Blackbird Leys Park was recently awarded Green Flag status and will soon see over £80,000 of improvements.

The play area improvement work is the final part of Oxford City Council's play area refurbishment programme, which has so far invested £3.1million in the city's parks.

Admissions

AS of last Friday, families with children who are due to start secondary school in September 2014 can apply online via the County Council's admissions page.

Letters with details of how to complete the application form have been sent to parents of Year Six pupils.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes - not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Josh Flory feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Crowds turn out for St Giles celebrations

OXFORD'S annual St Giles' Fair was in the city centre on Monday and Tuesday, with thousands of visitors and residents enjoying the fun of the fair.

A steady stream of youngsters and adults walked through the fair in the St Giles area, going on the dozens of rides and stalls that were on offer.

Jeanette Simms was at the fair on Tuesday with her three-year-old granddaughter Darcy Cox, who had never been to the St Giles' Fair before.

She said: "Darcy's really enjoying the fair. She's been to some in Florida but had always been too young, so this is the first year she can go on the rides properly."

The fair dates back to 1625, originating as a parish festival to celebrate the feast of the patron saint, St Giles.

In the 18th century it became a toy fair, becoming a general children's fair in the early 19th century until the funfair grew in Victorian times, with large numbers of people attending every year.

It is held each year on the Monday and Tuesday following the first Sunday after St Giles' Day on September 1.

Cancer set to be slam dunked

BASKETBALL teams from Oxfordshire will be competing in a tournament for charity this weekend, as they raise money for Against Breast Cancer (ABC).

The 'ABC Tournament Champions' will see a number of teams, including the Oxford Stealers, Thame Tigers and Didcot Devils, shooting hoops for 12 hours at Abingdon's White Horse Leisure and Tennis Centre on Sunday.

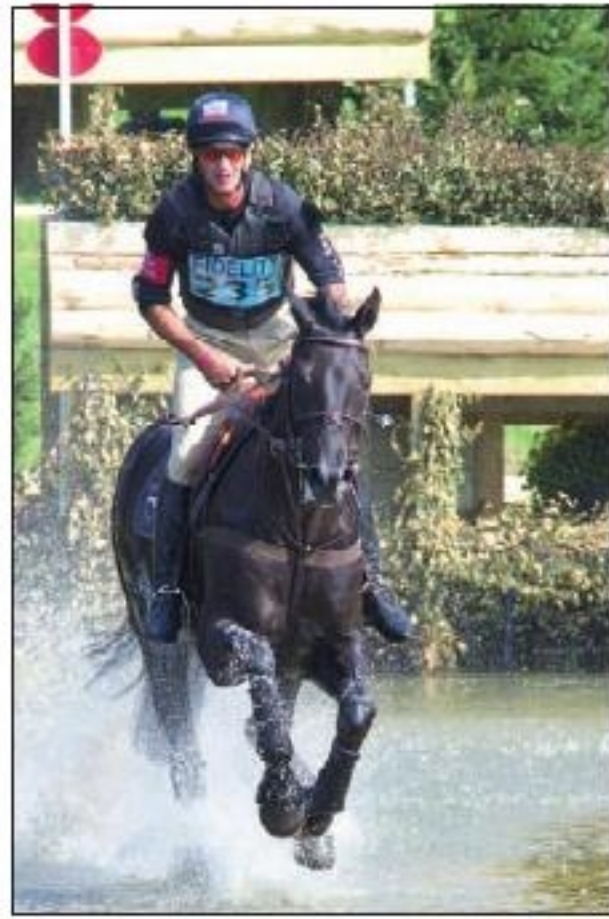

It has been organised by local basketball coach Peter Finnegan, who will also be offering 'donate and play' drop-in taster sessions, with 30 minutes of coaching followed by a mixture of games.

Other activities on the day include a cake stall and a raffle, as well as the chance to watch the basketball players in action.

Money raised will be used by ABC to fund unique research into breast cancer, with the aim of increasing survival rates after diagnosis and ultimately discovering a vaccine against the disease.

Their team of researchers are based at the University of Westminster, who analyse how the cancer cell, patients' natural resistance and their environment interact.

THE annual Blenheim Palace International Horse Trials returns today, with 150 riders from 16 countries set to thrill the crowds.

Household names such as Pippa Funnell and William Fox-Pitt will be among the featured riders over the four-day tournament. Thousands of people are expected to attend.

By James Booker

jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Blenheim has a tradition of showcasing future equine champions, with top riders using it as a proving ground for their young horses, before they step up to 4* level.

The event, which has been going since 1990, lasts for four days, and features three separate phases – dressage, cross country and showjumping.

The first official horse inspection took place yesterday. Dressage will follow today and tomorrow, before the cross country and showjumping over the weekend.

As well as the competition, there will be a series of demonstrations and displays, including a light cavalry show, a high jump challenge and quadrille.

Experts will also be on hand to share their tips, skills and training techniques.

Money will be raised throughout the weekend for Macmillan Cancer Support – the event's chosen charity for 2013.

Town council backing for pool campaign

DIDCOT Town Council will support petitioners who wish to retain a local swimming pool from closure.

At a full council meeting on Monday night, a majority of the members voted in favour of leader Margaret Davies' motion to support the campaign to save the Didcot Wave on Newlands Avenue.

Didcot Town Council will now write to South Oxfordshire District Council's (SODC) chief executive David Buckle and leader Ann Ducker declaring their support.

However, an amendment was made, which will see the town council ask SODC for updates regarding the Wave.

Cllr Davies said: "I thank all those people who signed the petition, it is a real community movement. Didcot needs the Wave we cannot manage without it. We would love to see the laned swimming pool to the north of the town and continue to have the wave where it is at present."

Cllr Des Healy set up the petition in July and has triggered a debate at SODC, which will take place on October 24, after obtaining over 2,000 signatures from local residents.

At Monday's meeting, Conservative members said it was "premature" as no formal decision has been made on the Wave's future.

Rape charge

A 29-YEAR-OLD man from Oxford has been charged with rape, in connection with an incident in George Street during the early hours of September 3.

Kirankumar Solanki, of Cottesmore Road, was charged with two counts of rape.

He was remanded in custody and due to appear at Oxford Magistrates Court on September 5.

Police appeal for help

POLICE are appealing for the public's help to trace a man wanted in connection with a violent disorder in Littlemore.

Thomas Barnes, aged 22, of Minchery Road, Oxford, is wanted on suspicion of violent disorder, taking a vehicle without the owner's consent and possession of an offensive weapon.

It relates to a fight, involving a number of men, that started outside the Taste of Jamaica restaurant in Cowley Road, shortly after 7.30pm on July 29 where a baseball bat and chair were allegedly used as weapons.

Councillor's vigilance plea

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A SENIOR county councillor is urging cyclists and motorists to be more vigilant on the roads.

More riders are expected to be on the streets of Oxford this morning for national cycle to work day and Cllr David Nimmo Smith, cabinet member for Transport, is calling for all road users to be safe and patient on their way to and from work.

Cllr Nimmo Smith said: "When you come to junctions there is no real opportunity for people to go past cyclists or cyclists to go past other lorries and cars.

"We want them all going on the same route and to be going roughly the same speed and they need to be very, very aware of each other."

Just last month funding to make The Plain roundabout safer for cyclists was approved with lanes set to be narrowed to slow traffic and make conditions cyclist friendly.

"The council are encouraging more people to cycle to work," Cllr Nimmo Smith added.

"We're doing a lot of work in Oxford and we have additional money for The Plain and additional money for other schemes dotted around the city just to try and join up all the cycle routes and make things a little safer.

• Cllr David Nimmo Smith is looking to make Oxford's roads safer for cyclists

"What we have got to make sure of is certainly encouraging them to cycle but actually make it, from their point of view, safe to do so."

Cllr Nimmo Smith continued: "There are cycle lanes and there are areas where you can actually cycle off roads but unfortunately we've got old towns and some areas of the county have medieval road networks and the roads are quite narrow.

"They are narrower than, to be honest, we'd like for lorries and cars and we have to accommodate cycles as well so what we want to try and do is make people aware of everybody else and that doesn't always happen.

"It is the 10 per cent either end that we have really got to look out for.

"Most people are sensible and know what is going on but it is the extremes that we have got to be very aware of."

Cycle to work day aims to encourage people to take to two wheels and cycle for one day and Oxfordshire Sports Partnership's active recreation manager Hazel Walsh added: "Motorists, please be aware of cyclists and give them as much space as possible."

Thoughts move to Autumn

WHILST the summer of 2013 extends into September, our thoughts move onto autumnal matters.

This is the time of year when the allotments produce their greatest yields and stores become stuffed with potatoes, beans, tomatoes, courgettes (well marrows by the time we harvest them) and other vegetables that this season has kindly allowed us to grow. It was on New Road allotments that I met George.

There will be numerous commemorations this year on 17th September to mark almost 70 years since the famous WW2 operation Market Garden was launched of a Bridge too Far fame. However there is more to Holland than Arnhem. George was in the Royal Scottish Fusiliers, part of 52 Lowland Division, who assisted the Canadian army to clear the Schelde estuary.

I also met Jim, a WW2 veteran who was in the Seaforth Highlanders in the Highland Division when I was on holiday near Gennep who had the unenviable task of clearing the Reichswald forest.

Whilst we remember the brave paratroopers who held for days at Arnhem, having taken off from airfields such as nearby RAF Harwell, we should also remember those who were involved in extremely tough action at the same time in other parts of Holland. Often I hear folk hark back to those days of discipline and determination expressing concern that the youth of today don't have the attributes of latter years.

I can simply put their minds at ease after visiting the annual Oxfordshire Army Cadet Force camp near Shrewsbury. Their ages ranged from 12 to 18 and I have not seen such a relaxed, disciplined and competent group of youngsters.

The Didcot Hospital fete took place on the last bank holiday in August raising funds for their League of Friends. It was a lively event, well attended and the display of falcons and owls was impressive.

At this event I met a young lady who had come up with a great idea. Leading back to the start of this piece, this is the time of year when most allotments produce more than can be used. A new Oxon Vegcycle scheme is coming to Didcot on Sunday, October 6 (Sunday) in the Orchard Centre from 10am to 4pm. People can bring their surplus fruit and vegetables to swap or donate (a Facebook page has been set up). Please come along and participate.

Cheers! It's all in the name for beer competition winner Jim

A SHABBINGTON man has been named the winner of The Vale Brewery Company's competition to name its beer of the month, which will be available on tap at this year's Thame Food Festival.

Jim Crews concocted 'Thame'in of the Brew' before pouring the first pint on Saturday at the brewery's open day.

He said: "I don't think you can beat a proper pint of beer served in a proper pub, so when I found out about this challenge, I was naturally keen to enter."

"The name needed a link to Thame, have a traditional feel to it and yet be nice and simple."

"Now I'm thrilled to have poured the first pint at the brewery and to have tried the beer, which I can tell you went down extremely well!"

Vale Brewery general manager Ian Mackey said: "We loved Jim's name for the beer and thought it was a great choice for the special festival ale that is also our beer of the month for September."

"It's a unique beer that's sure to go down well at the bar as well as the Thame Food Festival at the end of the month, and I for one will be raising a glass to its success."

Council lauded for help with families

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORDSHIRE has been placed among the best performing local areas in the country for helping troubled families, according to official government figures released on Tuesday.

The 'Thriving Families' scheme, run by Oxfordshire County Council, helps identify the most troubled families in society and tackle problems such as anti-social behaviour, unemployment and truanting from school.

By helping the families, it is also hoped long-term savings will be made by reducing the financial burden on society.

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron said: "I am determined that we help people to get on in life, including those families where things may be going wrong."

"For some, that starts with attending school every day, staying out of trouble and taking practical steps towards work, just as other families do."

"Every month, more and more of the most troubled families are getting help to deal with these issues head-on in Oxfordshire."

"That is good for those families, the community and our country as a whole."

New figures show the scheme, where a dedicated worker is assigned to each family, has resulted in positive outcomes for 279 of Oxfordshire's most troubled families.

This means 55 per cent of the 503 families the council has worked with so far have shown improvement, making the county ninth best nationally.

County council leader Ian Hudspeth said: "It is quite clear that this scheme is working very well in Oxfordshire, and the results we have seen in our county are a credit both to the dedication of our staff and the efforts made by the families themselves."

"This is not about stigmatising people or picking on deprived families; this is about taking direct action to help these families overcome their problems and make positive contributions to society."

Each family taking part meets national criteria, in terms of poor school attendance and behaviour, anti-social behaviour, youth offending and adults out of work.

Children targeted across UK

THANKS to the brave testimony of the victims, in May, the harrowing Operation Bullfinch trial led to the conviction of seven men for child sexual exploitation. These men were part of a violent gang which had been preying on vulnerable young girls in Oxford for at least eight years. The victims spoke of being plied with hard drugs, beaten and repeatedly raped by strangers. Over the course of the investigation and subsequent court case, I saw the devastating impact of these crimes on the victims and all around them. Even today, many of us are struggling to understand how such depraved crimes could have been committed in beautiful Oxford.

Unbelievably though, our story is not unique. Hidden from plain view within their communities, thousands of vulnerable children across the UK are being cynically targeted, groomed and subjected to appalling, long term sexual abuse. These children have irrevocably lost their childhood. We simply must get better at protecting the victims and prosecuting the perpetrators. That is why, supported by police, lawyers and major charities, I launched CHILDHOOD LOST, a petition which is calling on the Prime Minister to ensure better protection, support and justice for victims of child sexual exploitation.

So far the petition has gathered nearly 100,000 signatures with messages of support coming in from all over the country. More information on the Childhood Lost campaign, including the petition to the Prime Minister, can be found at www.childhoodlost.co.uk.

Low level Omega-3 clue to child reading ability

LOW levels of Omega-3 could suggest why some children struggle with reading, an Oxford University study has revealed.

Blood samples taken from 493 schoolchildren, aged between seven and nine-years-old, from 74 mainstream schools across Oxfordshire revealed that, on average, 2.45 per cent of the pupils total blood fatty acids contained Omega-3.

Long-chain Omega-3 fats found in fish, seafood and some algae, are essential for the brain's structure and function as well as for maintaining a healthy heart and immune system.

The research by the professors at Oxford University highlighted the amount found in the samples

By Jack Johnson

was below the minimum of four per cent that is recommended to maintain cardiovascular health in adults, with 8-12 per cent regarded as optimal for a healthy heart.

The study found that children's blood levels of the long-chain Omega-3 docosahexaenoic acid (DHA), which is mostly found in the brain, predicted how well they were able to concentrate and learn.

All of the children who had their blood sampled were thought to have below-average reading skills, based on national assessments at the age of seven or their teachers' current judgements, while, as part of the sample, parents also reported on their child's diet, revealing to the researchers that almost nine out of ten children ate fish less than twice a week.

Professor Paul Montgomery, a co-author of the study, said: "Higher levels of Omega-3 in the blood, and DHA in particular, were associated with better reading and memory, as well as with fewer behaviour problems as rated by parents and teachers."

"These results are particularly noteworthy given that we had a restricted range of scores, especially with respect to blood

DHA but also for reading ability, as around two-thirds of these children were still reading below their age-level when we assessed them.

"Although further research is needed, we think it is likely that these findings could be applied generally to schoolchildren throughout the UK."

Dr Alex Richardson, who also worked on the research, added: "The longer term health implications of such low blood Omega-3 levels in children obviously can't be known."

"But this study suggests that many, if not most UK children, probably aren't getting enough of the long-chain Omega-3 we all need for a healthy brain, heart and immune system.

"That gives serious cause for concern because we found that lower blood DHA was linked with poorer behaviour and learning in these children."

The current findings build on earlier work by the same researchers, showing that dietary supplementation with Omega-3 DHA improved both reading progress and behaviour in children from the general school population who were behind on their reading.

Previous research has already shown benefits of supplementation with long-chain Omega-3 for children with ADHD, Dyspraxia, Dyslexia, and related conditions.

Police plea

POLICE have released a CCTV image of two men they would like to speak to in connection with an ABH in Witney on September 4.

At about 2.40am, a 24-year-old man was punched in the face, causing significant damage to his teeth, by one unknown male, who was accompanied by another on Highworth Place.

The unknown offender is believed to be in his twenties and described as having dark hair.

Anyone with information should contact PC Paul Jackson on 101.

Pupils sign up

PUPILS from Headington School in Oxford have signed up to the World Wide Walk, taking place on October 11, to help raise money for Plan UK's Because I am a Girl campaign.

The walk will cover routes across the country on International Day of the Girl.

Each schoolgirl will walk 10km and has been given the target of raising £50.

Horse is rescued from ditch

• The horse was rescued successfully from the ditch in Dun's Tew

FIRE crews had to be called to rescue a horse that had become trapped in a muddy ditch on a farm at Dun's Tew earlier this month.

The owner of the horse said it was frightened by something, which caused it to get stuck in the ditch at around 1.20pm on September 3.

A fire engine responded from Deddington along with a rescue unit from Kidlington, who used specialist large animal rescue equipment for an hour to free the horse.

With help from a vet and the owner, the horse was successfully rescued using skills endorsed by the British Equine Veterinary Association.

Crew manager Mark Oddi said: "It is of the utmost importance for farmers to maintain their fences next to open water, preventing cattle and other livestock from getting stuck in rivers, ponds and muddy banks."

"The incident highlights the need for farm fencing to be suitable for its purpose, especially in warm, dry weather when animals may seek water to keep cool."

With the power of a large engine, and the efficiency of a small one, the new 1.0l EcoBoost engine in the Ford Fiesta is a triumph of contradiction.

Affordable homes pledge

PLANS to build more affordable homes in Oxford are still on track, according to the leader of Oxford City Council.

The council's 2011-15 Affordable Housing Programme is attempting to reduce the city's 4,500 people who are on the council's waiting list for housing.

Last week, councillors at the East Area Planning Committee meeting gave the go-ahead for 112 more houses to be built in East Oxford.

These include 48 homes in East Minchery Farm, 11 in Littlemore, 10 on the council depot site in Bury Knowle Park, and three each in Cardinal Close, Leiden

By James Booker

jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Road and Thompson Terrace. Councillor Bob Price said: "The programme is fully on track, and will deliver the 112 affordable homes that we have been planning for these sites over the next two years."

"All the homes have been designed to provide space standards that are well above the minimum levels required and to have excellent insulation."

Forty-four of these homes will be at affordable rent pricing.

Cllr Price continued: "These homes are in addition to the (354) affordable new homes (out of 885) that will be built at Barton as part of that development."

However, Cllr Price added these plans "will only make a limited dent in the City's needs for affordable housing", adding that "principal limitation now is land availability".

Cllr Scott Seamons, board member for Housing, said that the area's green belt and administrative issues also restricted the council's action in implementing new affordable homes.

"This is a positive outcome as Oxford has enormous demand for affordable housing as the costs of renting and/or buying privately are very high," he said. "There are currently more than 4,500 people on the City Council's housing waiting list."

"The city is also prevented from expanding much further by a tightly-drawn administrative boundary and by the green belt. We can now move quickly with the Affordable Housing Programme to deliver high quality sustainable housing that benefits residents and helps to address Oxford's housing shortfall."

Cllr Seamons added the council were hopeful the new homes would be built by 2015.

Forty-nine sheltered accommodation units at Bradlands in Old Marston already have planning permission as part of this programme. Demolition of the existing buildings will start in November, and work on the other sites will begin in 2014.

Plans to develop 10 council homes in Warren Crescent, Lye Valley, has been deferred due to the development's potential impact on the adjacent Lye Valley Site of Special Scientific Interest.

City's hidden treasures to be unveiled to the public

• OPT Director, Debbie Dance and Christ Church college Dean, the Very Rev Christopher Lewis

VISITORS will get the chance to explore hidden histories of the city as part of Oxford Open Doors this weekend.

The Town Hall, which opened in 1897, will stage tours that will include rooms normally closed to the public.

Oxford Brookes University and the Oxford Preservation Trust will provide a 'Build the City of Your Dreams' activity in the main hall, allowing people to add their take on Oxford's iconic skyline.

The event, now in its fifth year, also boasts the Explore Oxford Galleries, where visitors can learn about Oxford's past and present.

They can also find out about the people who lived in Oxford with the 'Oxford Uncovered' trail, and explore the existing new community exhibition, 'East Oxford from Above'.

The Town Hall will be open during the weekend from 11am until 3pm. For more information, visit www.oxford.gov.uk/museum or www.oxfordopendoors.co.uk.

News Bites

Fish 'bypass'

FISH will now be able to swim more freely in Oxford's rivers after Environmental Agency work at Hinksey Weir.

A new nature-like bypass channel has been installed allowing fish to migrate up and downstream with more ease.

This is thought to help boost fish populations in the River Thames.

Just the ticket

NETWORK Rail and Chiltern Railways will collaborate to oversee a new fast train service between Oxford and London Marylebone. The collaboration will manage upgrading of the line between Oxford and Bicester and connection of the railway at Bicester to the Chiltern Main Line by construction of 1km of new railway. The first services are expected to start in two years time.

Lights fantastic

OXFORD'S Christmas Light Festival has received a £15,000 grant from Arts Council England.

This will enable the City Council to work with Oxford Contemporary Music and Dancin' Oxford to secure a professional programme of music and dance performances.

Formed by Pete Doherty in 2003, the group settled on a regular line-up in the summer of 2004 before releasing their debut album 'Down in Albion' in 2005, followed by 'Shotter's Nation' two years later.

Tickets for the 7pm show cost £25.87, and can be bought online at www.o2academyoxford.co.uk or by calling 0844 477 2000.

DUTCH jazz sensation Caro Emerald is set to bring her unique vocal style to Oxford's New Theatre on Tuesday.

The date is one of 11 that makes up her September tour of Europe, promoting her second album, 'The Shocking Miss Emerald', which was released in May.

Caro will bring with her a sassy blend of big band jazz, swing and pop to the city, performing songs from both her current album, and its predecessor, the award-winning 'The Deleted Scenes From The Cutting Room Floor'.

Caro's multi-platinum selling debut took its inspiration from the Hollywood cinema and the glitz and glamour of the jazz scene, 'The Shocking Miss Emerald' is inspired by the epicentre of style, romance, excitement and dangerous liaisons - Paris.

The first single, the hooky, hip-hop tango 'Tangled Up', is stylish, classy and sassy pop - Caro's trademark - and is a delicious appetiser for the new album.

Caro's first album sold 1.3million copies in Europe,

By James Booker

jamesb@taylornewspapers.co.uk

and spent nine weeks in the UK top 10.

Caro performed on UK TV shows including Jools Holland's Hootenanny, Strictly Come Dancing and BBC's Children In Need and her music became a permanent fixture on the airwaves with Radio 2 adding all five singles to the A List and making the record Album Of The Week.

Caro's live performances included an astonishing set in London's Hyde Park and at the Isle of Wight Festival and her sold out headline UK tour garnered rave reviews.

The Times declared the atmosphere at a recent gig at the Roundhouse in London to be "part carnival, part high-school prom", praising her "magnificent vocals" and concluding that "When she finally bounced off stage, punching the air, it felt like a whirlwind had hit North London."

FOLLOWING up on the release of their self-titled debut album, Manchester group The 1975 are coming to Oxford's O2 Academy on September 24 before heading off on a worldwide tour.

Made up of vocalist Matthew Healy, guitarist Adam Hann, drummer George Daniel and bass player Ross MacDonald, the four started making music together a decade ago when they met at school.

They released their first album on September 2, which went straight to the top of the charts.

"It's exciting, it's been a long time coming," said lead singer Matt. "We'd achieved a lot before the debut album, so it's very humbling that we've had the opportunity to make the album."

"Our shows, we want it to be like an eighties prom, the band that makes everybody feel good."

"I think with our music, it's all about really uplifting songs and a message that's a bit more dour, but there's a lot of thought behind it and a lot of self-deprecation."

Despite only releasing their

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

first album this month, the group have been performing together for 10 years, having met at their school in Wilmslow, Cheshire.

Matt added: "We've been doing it for a long time, and that's kind of helped to define us."

"We knew we weren't ready until we hit a certain age where we really understood what we wanted to do, who we wanted to be, and kind of took it from there."

"The name 'The 1975' comes from a book that I got given on holiday. There were loads of notes in the book, and it said 'To Jean, the 1975', and just the use of the word 'the', I thought was really interesting."

"It's strange, it doesn't have any relevance, it's all to do with that word preceding the date."

The show starts at 7pm. For more information, go to www.o2academyoxford.co.uk or call 0844 477 2000.

'Sleek' Mazda stands out

NEW high tech Mazda blends efficiency, style and dynamics.

This third-generation Mazda6 is the second new Mazda model to utilise the Japanese firm's ultra efficient and weight-saving SKYACTIV Manufacturing process, with sharply styled 'KODO Soul of Motion' design language.

At a time when most rivals come in hatchback guise, Mazda's new large saloon stands out with its sleek and dramatically styled body. The purposeful looks feature high-waisted flanks, flared wheel-arches and a sweeping Coupé style roofline.

The new SKYACTIV engine line-up comprises two petrol engines and two diesels, mated with six-speed automatic or manual transmissions. Together with SKYACTIV powertrains, the SKYACTIV-Chassis and SKYACTIV-Body contribute to making an efficient, lightweight, yet safe design – Euro NCAP having

REVIEW: MAZDA6 2.0

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

recently awarded the Mazda6 a five star safety rating.

Tested here is the 165 PS 2.0 petrol, which returns a claimed combined 47.9 mpg and emits 135g/km of CO₂.

Power delivery is linear and smooth and while lacking the gut-punch shove of the diesels, it actually manages to be the more engaging powertrain. When cruising the engine is refined, but when worked harder a more sporting, vocal and engaging character emerges. The combination of well-weighted, accurate steering and capable chassis combine to make the Mazda6 an enjoyably involving drive. Admittedly the ride is on the firm side in Sport guise, not helped by the large 19 inch wheels, although SE and SE-L trim cars get smaller wheels and a smoother, more pliant balance.

Inside the cabin you're treated to an aesthetically pleasing and premium feeling interior, which makes use of black glossy finishes and soft touch plastics. The switchgear and instrumentation is clear and well laid out on the sculpted dash and this top spec SportNav model gets luxurious light stone rouged leather trim incorporating red stitching.

Verdict: This latest incarnation of the Mazda6 is a stylish well made Ford Mondeo alternative. On the road it feels much smaller and more nimble than its size would suggest: a credit to its honed driving dynamics. It also boasts class-leading fuel economy, low running costs and clever active safety systems – with good residuals to boot – making it a worthy rival to key European contenders in the large family car class.

Smith hopes for Misano record to get even better

YAMAHA Tech 3 rider Bradley Smith is hoping to build upon his past successes at Misano ahead of this weekend's San Marino Grand Prix.

The 22-year-old has a 125cc podium finish and a pole position to his name at Misano and will be hoping for a good result this Sunday as he sets his sights on a top ten finish in his maiden MotoGP season.

Smith finished ninth in the British Grand Prix a fortnight ago and recognises the advantage that his nearest rivals, the Ducati pairing of Andrea Dovizioso and Nicky Hayden, have over him in San Marino.

He said: "The Ducati's will have an advantage after testing there so much."

"We know they will be strong from the word go but I've got a good record at Misano with poles and podiums."

Smith will also test at Misano and he added: "I'm really excited about the test the day after the grand prix."

"I'm finding out more about the bike the whole time and the test gives you the opportunity to try whatever you want."

"We have some great ideas in the pipeline and we need to test them and see if they work."

Championship leader Marc Marquez heads in to the race weekend with a 30 point lead over Repsol Honda teammate Dani Pedrosa.

ALFIE Potter and Danny Rose were on target as Oxford United beat 10-man Burton Albion 2-0 last Saturday to make it three away wins on the spin.

The win stretched United's unbeaten start to six games, keeping Chris Wilder's side second in League Two.

United are two points behind league leaders Chesterfield, who visit the Kassam Stadium in a fortnight's time for a potential top of the table clash.

After an uneventful first period last Saturday, Brewers defender Ian Sharps was sent off on 36 minutes for kicking out at Dave Kitson.

And United took full advantage with Potter opening the scoring four minutes after the break with a brilliant solo effort.

Rose then poked home with five minutes remaining, converting Ryan Williams' cross after the young Australian made a lung-bursting run down the right flank.

"We were nice and solid, we didn't give anything away and it is really important when you come to places like this," assistant manager Mickey Lewis told the club.

"It was a pretty slow game to start with, which we were happy with, because Burton can really come at you and are really good at home."

Lewis added that United learned their lessons from not being able to overcome 10-man Wycombe at home last month, and were more patient against the Brewers.

"We said at half time to be patient and we learnt our lesson from Wycombe a few weeks ago and we told them to keep moving the ball."

"Burton are a very hard-working side but it is difficult to play with 10 men for that amount of time if you keep possession, so I thought we did that quite well."

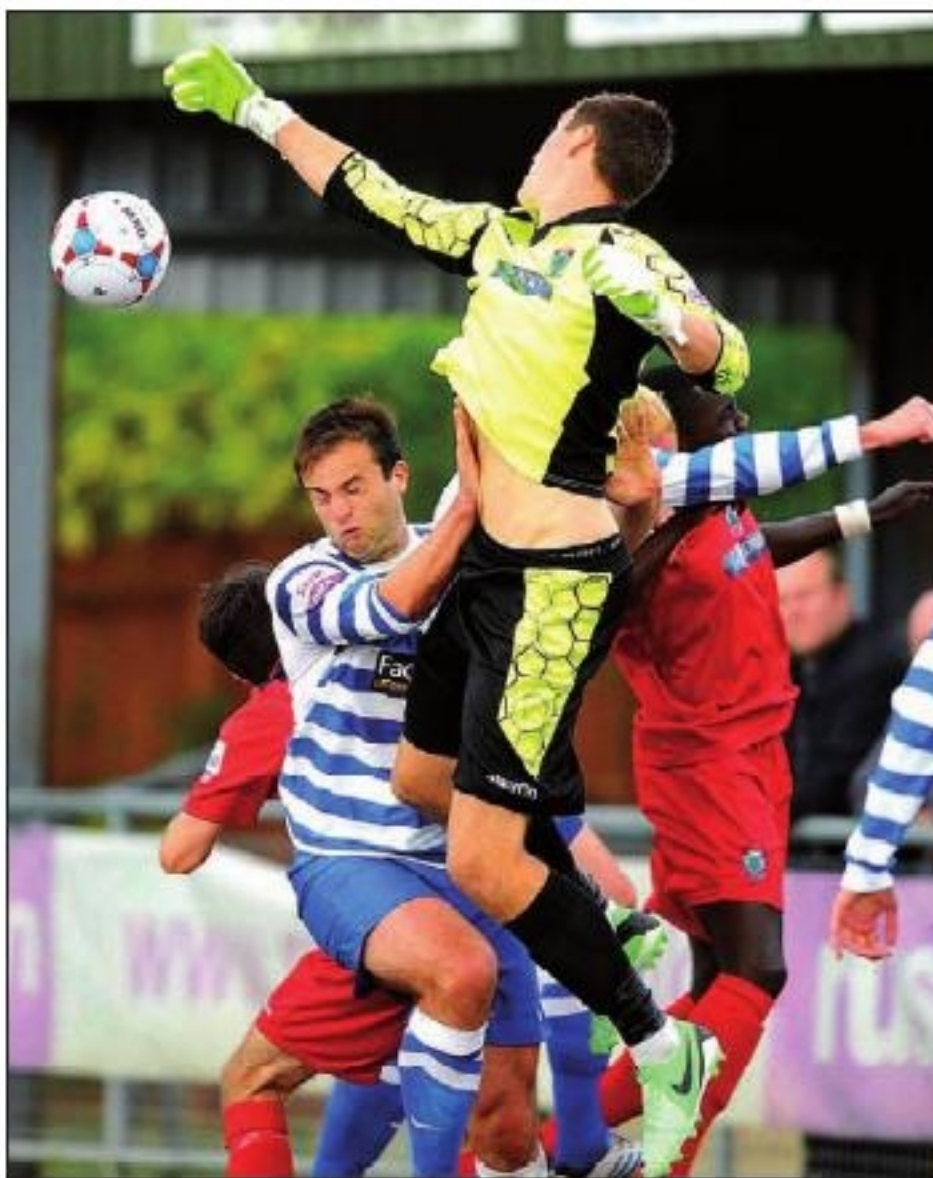

"The toughest thing about playing against 10 men is concentration because you do have a lot of the ball and I thought we passed it well but there was a couple of times when we gave it away and the back four were on their toes."

Skipper Jake Wright said: "I just want to keep winning games and getting results."

"I think people have made a big thing about clean sheets but I'm not bothered."

United travel to Cheltenham Town this Saturday.

City still looking for first win of season

OXFORD City's winless start to the Skrill Conference North season continued as they suffered last-gasp heartbreak at home to fellow strugglers Colwyn Bay.

The visitors were the brighter side throughout a lacklustre game and could have gone ahead midway through the first half, when Cameron Darkwah's low shot came back off the upright.

City keeper Mark Scott saved at point blank range from Robert Hopley, while at the other end Jamie Cook went close for City.

On 58 minutes, the visitors took the lead after confusion in the City defence.

Mark Scott spilled the ball following Tom Smyth's long throw and Daniel Meadworth was on hand to force the ball home.

City then had their best spell of the game, forcing a series of corners from which substitute Darren Pond and centre back Lee Henderson went close for the home side.

And their pressure was rewarded when, two minutes from time, Bay keeper Josh Ollerenshaw failed to get any distance on his punch for a corner as Mike Symonds put him under pressure.

Paul Stonehouse collected the loose ball and drilled home an unstoppable low shot.

City's joy was short lived when despite the heroics of Mark Scott who produced a string of reflex saves, Meadowcroft, who looked offside, scrambled the ball home for the visitors.

City almost salvaged a point in the final minute but Paul Williams was denied as his shot was deflected past the upright.

'Erase memory of Knockhill'

JASON Plato will need a strong showing to keep his fading championship hopes alive at Rockingham on Sunday, for round eight of the British Touring Car Championship (BTCC).

The last three weekends have been difficult for Plato, having only picked up one podium finish in the last 10 races.

But despite his recent struggles, many people are refusing to write off the former two-time champion.

Three solid points-scoring results with fourth, seventh and fifth last time out at Knockhill meant Plato stayed in touch with championship leader Matt Neal, during a weekend when his MG was largely uncompetitive.

He is now 54 points behind Neal in the BTCC standings in fifth place.

Plato said: "We have got to completely erase the memory of the Knockhill weekend and think about Rockingham because we have got a set-up which we know works there."

"We dominated race one at that circuit last year and we have just got to think about winning some races."

The three races start at 11.30am, 2pm and 4.50pm on Sunday.

Henley win

HENLEY Hawks made an impressive start to the season last Saturday with a convincing 51-17 win over Tynedale.

The bonus point victory sees the Hawks top the SSE National League 1 on points difference.

Martin Nutt, James Comben, Tom Allen (2), Alan Awcock, Danny Wells and Tommy Haynes all went over for Hawks to ensure a great start after winning promotion last season.

Meanwhile, Chinnor beat Exmouth 9-3 on the opening day of the SSE National League 2 South season with James Cathcart kicking the points.

Oxford Harlequins also began their campaign with a bonus points win after beating Newbury Blues 36-15 in the South West 1 East.

This weekend Harlequins travel to Witney, Chinnor host Dings Crusaders and Henley face Esher.

Miss the cut

EDDIE Pepperell missed the cut at last weekend's Omega European Masters in Crans Montana, Switzerland.

The World No. 222 carded an opening round 75 and a one-over-par second round to miss the cut by five shots.

Denmark's Thomas Bjorn beat Scotsman Craig Lee in a play-off to win the tournament for the second time in three years.

Alfredians' hot streak continues

WANTAGE Town head into tomorrow night's Hellenic Premier Division encounter against third-placed Oxford City Nomads in high spirits.

The Alfredians have not dropped a single point in their opening seven league games and will open up a six-point gap over Nomads if they continue that form.

Gary Ackling's side are three points behind league leaders Reading Town with the Berkshire side having played two more games than the Alfredians.

On Tuesday night, Wantage advanced to the second round of the Floodlit Cup after a 2-1 win over Chinnor.

Goals from Rich Claydon and Mark Janes proved to be enough to see off Chinnor.

Meanwhile, Nomads head in to tomorrow night off the back of a 3-2 defeat to Binfield last weekend.

They were in action against Shrivenham in the first round of the Floodlit Cup as the Guardian went to print.

WALLBRIDGE DELIGHT AS DIDDY WIN

'I'm absolutely chuffed for the lads'

LOUIS Joyce and Luke Carnell fired Didcot Town to their first league win of the season last Saturday with a 2-0 victory over Yate Town.

Diddy had only picked up one point from their first five league games before last weekend and put in a hard working and improved performance against Yate compared to their display at Godalming Town four days earlier.

With first choice goalkeeper Gareth Tucker unavailable, Andy Wallbridge was forced to play Kieran Beesley in goal while Sam Parish filled in at centre-half for the injured Joel Meade (broken ribs) and Jack Longford came back in for Sam Elkins (ankle ligaments).

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Wallbridge's side were the better team from the off and Joyce tapped home on 29 minutes after good play between Jermaine Ferreira and Nick Thorne.

Beesley then made a brilliant double save to firstly deny Lewis Haldane and then Mike Bryant while the Railwaymen could have gone into half-time with a two-goal lead as Carnell headed Adam Morris' corner on to the bar.

However, just six minutes after the break Carnell powerfully headed Morris' free-kick past Martin Horsell to make it 2-0.

Beesley was called upon again in the second half, pushing Haldane's 20 yard effort round the post, while Pablo Haysham nearly caught Horsell out with a looping half volley from 25 yards.

Wallbridge said: "I'm absolutely chuffed for the lads. We had a game plan, the lads listened to it and we worked on it in training, and they were brilliant from start to finish.

"I said to them if I get 100 per cent from everybody we are going to win games of football and that's our platform from now.

"I think Yate are going to be up there but this is brilliant for us because of the confidence it will give us going into the next game.

"All of a sudden we are going into a game and we have beaten someone and now, hopefully, we can move on."

As the Guardian went to print Didcot were in action against Burnham in the Berks & Bucks Senior Invitation Cup.
